Aquarion names Harry Hibbard as new V.P. - Operations in Massachusetts and New Hampshire

Harry C. Hibbard of Hull, MA has been named by Aquarion Water Company as Vice President of Operations for Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

In making the announcement, Aquarion President and CEO Charles V. Firlotte stated, “We are delighted to welcome Harry aboard. His understanding of the issues facing the communities we serve; his passion for the environment; his strong management and leadership skills; and his unrelenting commitment to community service make him an ideal choice.”

Hibbard, an attorney, most recently had his own private practice, specializing in real estate, municipal, housing and employment law. Previously he held positions at the Boston law firm of Sessa, Glick, Quiroga & Hibbard, and at Pike & Pike in Brookline, MA.

He earned a BA in Political Science from the University of Massachusetts, Boston, and a law degree from Northeastern School of Law. He is president of the Hull Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Town of Hull Advisory Board and The Hull Library Foundation Board of Directors.

Aquarion Water Company is among the seven largest investor-owned water utility companies in the U.S., and the largest in New England, serving nearly 670,000 customers in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Connecticut.
